Course Description		There are many important issues that are basic for philosophy. The newcomers should have some ideas about them. This course informs them of the issues by way of introduction to the history of philosophy.
Course Objective		The objective is firstly to introduce the basic issues of philosophy to the students, and secondly to evoke their interest of search and research, and at last to cultivate the philosophical spirit in them. ‘Philosophy’ means in Greek ‘love of wisdom’ (φιλοσοφία). Without love (φιλία) there is only wisdom (σοφία), which is not whole philosophy. The love of wisdom makes us search and research, so we can deepen the issues. On the other hand, one's philosophical spirit is his desire to know, so that he will think and rethink, and even think about his thought. This is reflection and is the most important thing for a philosopher.
